tonight state that it is feared the death list will be much increased when points now cut off from the outside world are heard from. A late dispatch says: The village of Norristowa, in Wirt county, was swept entirely away. Great suffering exists among those who lost all they possessed, and the County Commissioners will issue an appeal for aid. The cloudburst occurred on Limestone Mountain, where the five creeks that were flooded have a common source. The damage to crops is inestimable, and farmers will be dependent upon charity until next season.

only. KANSAS CITY VERY DRY. KANSAS CITY, July 21.—The Sunday law had its designed effect for the first time to-day since its attempted enforcement, and Kansas City is as dry as Prohibition Kansas. Today the Chief of Police placed in the hands of 45 police officers blank warrants for the arrest of saloon-keepers who violated the Downing law. The officers were in citizen's clothes, and kept a strict watch. Only three of them found a chance to make arrests.

SANGUINARY AFFAIR.

Fatal Shooting Affray Between Officers and Crooks.

CLEVELAND, July 21.—|By the Associ-ted Press.] Two prisoners, W. A. Smith and Richard N. Mansfield, broke from the County Jail last night, going through the slate roof. Deputy Sheriff Goldsoll went to the western part of the city, where one of the men lived, and, with a policeman, lay n wait for the fellows.

About midnight a carriage containing the two men passed along the street. The officers called to the occupants of the vehicle to stop. Several shots were exhanged and Goldsoll was fatally wounded. The carriage was driven rapidly away.

An hour later the rig was found a mile from the place of the shooting. In the buggy was the dead body of one of the men. It was at first thought that the dead man was Smith, but those who knew him failed to identify the corpse, and the police are still in the dark. They think, however, that the dead man was up to mischief, for in the buggy were found two revolvers, a club, screw-driver and a piece of rope. The horse, which had been stolen in the eastern part of the city, was wounded.

AN ILL-FATED DOG.

Sent Over Niagara Falls in a Bar-rel.

NIAGARA FALLS, July 21.—|By the Associated Press.| Hundreds of people crowded the southern shore of Goat Island and Three Sisters' Island this afternoon to witness the effect of a trip down the river and over Horseshoe Falls of a barrel which Carlisle Graham had announced he would set adrift at 3:30 p.m. It contained a Newfoundland dog, securely strapped to canyas suspenders attached to It contained a Newfoundland dog, securely strapped to canvas suspenders attached to the inside of the barrel. At first it drifted lazily onward, but soon the more rapid current caught it. The barrel appeared to keep toward the Canadian shore until it got well into the rapids, when it was speeded somewhat toward the American side. At 3:30 o'clock it reached the brink of the Horseshoe Falls and passed over, a fittle west of the center. Many expectant eyes watched for its appearance on the ruffled surface, but it did not show up Pieces of the barrel were picked up soon afterward. The dog was not to be found.

THREE CLAIMANTS, The Hocking Valley Under Decision of the First Land Contest in Oklahoma.

GUTHRIE (Oklahoma), July 21.—[By the Associated Press.] Register Lille and Receiver Barns of the Land Office here have rendered decisions in the first claim contest in Oklahoma. There were three claimants to a guartar-section adjacent to the Santa to a quarter-section adjacent to the Santa Féroad's right of way opposite Oklahoma City. The first was Deputy United States Marshal White. He was on the ground the Marshal White. He was on the ground the day Oklahoma was opened in his official capacity, and staked his claim at 12:01 p.m. C. J. Bianchard, an employé of the Santa Fê road, stepped on the quarter about noon and drove his stakes. Vestal Cook was in the Chickasaw Nation at noon, but with the aid of four confederates, who supplied him with relays of horses, he reached the quarter section at 1 o'clock, and asserted his claim. Messrs. Lille and Barns hold that all three violated the law; that none of them are entitled to the quarter in question, and that they have forfeited all rights to take and hold homesteads in Indian Territory.

LANCASTER, (O.), July 21.—By the Associated Press. One of the most disastrous sterms ever known in the Hocking Valley culminated yesterday in the breaking of Sharp's dam at Sugar Grove, on the Hocking canal. The dam held in store a large body of water that supplied the lower levels of the canal. The heavy rains had filled the reservoir to the banks, when suddenly the dam gave away and the water went out through the valley taking with it every moveable object. For twenty miles the soil is plowed up. Trees, fences coops Domestic Trouble and Suicide.
St. Louis, July 21.—The Republic's Kirksville, Mo., special says: About two years ago James Sylva and Miss Buckale, daughter of a well-known citizen of Kirksville, were married and removed to Keokuk, Lowa. About six months ago Mrs. Sylva returned to the parental roof, stating that her husband would not support her. Sylva arrived here this morning and went to his father-in-law's house. He asked his wife:
"Allie, will you return to me?" The young woman replied in the negative, whereupon Sylva fired at her and she fell.
Sylva then turned the weapon upon himself and sent a ball into his brain. He will die. Mrs.
Sylva was not hurt. Domestic Trouble and Suicide. the soil is plowed up. Trees, fences, coops and hundreds of head of live stock were and hundreds of head of live stock were swept away.

No lives were lost, because the houses are situated on a bluff that overlooks the valley. But the canal for miles is a wreck and thousands of feet of rallroad track are washed away. wasned away.

OUTLINE OF THE NEW STATE'S CONSTITUTION.

Woman Suffrage Prohibited-Aliens to Be Protected but Not Permitted to Rule the Roost-Other Provisions.

By Telegraph to The Times.

BISMARCK (N. Dak.), July 21.—[By the Associated Press.] The Constitutional Convention has been given a surprise by the presentation of a complete Constitution, which will be considered during the present week. This Constitution is said to have been presented with great care and offer. week. This Constitution is said to have been prepared with great care, and after consultation with some of the ablest constitutional lawyers in the Union. In many respects it is identical with the articles already introduced. It is a compilation of the best provisions of the Constitutions of the different States and of the United States, and adapted to North Dakota.

With regard to taxation it has no specific provisions, embodying the Wisconsin Constitutional provision on this subject, which provides that the rate of taxation shall be described. The wife of Hiram Hoadley, Jr., left him some time ago on account of domestic trouble and returned to the home of her father, a farmer named Newman. This morning Hoadley went to Newman's residence early and when his wife came out to go to the barnyard he seized her with his left hand and held her while he fired three builts into her breast, leaving her for dead.

Legislature, not exceeding 90 days. Twothirds of the members-elect may override the veto power. It is against minority representation, providing for elections by a plurality vote.

It gives the Legislature full power to regulate liquor licences.

Any coal lands which the State may acquire in a Congressional grant shall never be sold, but may be leased. The school fund shall be invested in United States bonds, bonds of the State or first mortgage securities of the State. The school fund shall be considered a trust fund, the interest to be used for schools, and in case of loss of any part of the principal the State must make it good.

The property of a wife before marriage, shall be exempt from execution on claims against her husband.

It directs the Legislature to pass liberal homestead laws; prohibits foreign corporations from transacting business in the State, who shall be subject to process by State, who shall be subject to process by law.

It provides that no foreigner shall vote until two years after he has declared his intention to become a citizen, and that the reading of the Declaration of Independence with facility shall be considered a test of the qualification of a voter.

No act of the Legislature shall take effect within sixty days after adjournment, unless specially provided in the preamble or body of the act.

This Constitution will furnish abundance of material for discussion, and those who have read it, predict that it will be adopted with very few changes.

Tenement Houses in Danger.

Tenement Houses in Danger. New York, July 21.—Early this morning fire gutted the three-story brick building, Nos. 304, 306 and 308 East Eleventh ing, Nos. 304, 306 and 308 East Eleventh street, occupied by Moses Weill as a stable and storage place for carriages. The neighborhood being a tenement district, great excitement was created, and it was necessary for the police to clear the streets, which were filled with hair-clad people. This was hardly accomplished when the front wall of the building fell into the street slightly injured by flying bricks. The loss is $35,000.

Manitoba's Wheat Outlook.
St. PAUL (Minn.), July 21.—The assistant general manager of the Manitoba Railroad has just completed a thorough personal examination of the wheat crop along the lines of the Manitoba, and predicts that the country tributary to his line will furnish shipment of at least 32,000,000 bushels of wheat.

A Natural Gas Trust.

PITTSBURGH, July 21.—A special from Lims, O., says: There is a movement on foot looking to a consolidation of all of the natural gas companies in the Ohio and Indiana field and to put them into a trust. Burned to Death.

POTTSVILLE (Pa.), July 21.—At Track-ville last night a dwelling occupied by an aged couple, Michael McGrath and wife, was destroyed by fire and the old folks per-ished.

LONDON, July 21.—[By Cable and Associated Press.] Gen. Boulanger, Count Dillon and M. Rochefort have issued the folwing manifesto:

"To the French Electors: We have dis dained to reply to the absurd calumnies concocted by ministers who have been convicted of peculations. Our abstention from this odious comedy is now justified by the indignant repulsion of attempts to extort from officers of the army lying denunciations of their former chief. These suborners of witnesses have not hesitated to employ the taxpayers' money to obtain false depositions from jailbirds in their cells at Mazas. These are the miserable cells at Mazas. These are the miserable prevaricators who accuse their former Minister of War of corruption.

"Public disgust has already condemned, and the justice of the country will speedily overtake, these malefactors. They appealed to the Penal code, but the outcome of their infamous machinations was that they could bring absolutely nothing against the property of the most rivial proof, they would not thus have risked the Assize Court by negotiating with forgers.

"It is for you, dear fellow countrymen, to judge between us and these thieves. We await with confidence your sentence, from which these bandits, who feel its approach, vainly endeavor to escape. Long live regenerated France! Long live the honest republic!"

Oakland Badly Defeated by Stockton-Other Games STOCKTON, July 21.—[By the Associated Press.] Thirteen base hits, fourteen men Press. | Thirteen base hits, fourteen men sent to bases on balls, two wild pitches and three passed balls tell the whole story of Oakland's defeat this afternoon, coupled with the failure of the Oakland men to make connection with Harper's curves. Eleven of the Oakland struck out. In both the second and seventh innings every man of the Stocktons went to the bat, netting six runs in the second and seven in the seventh. Baltz had no control of the ball, and was in no condition to pitch. The middle finger of his right hand is split to the bone on the end. Dailey did some elegant work behind the bat in stopping wild pitches, but was wild in throwing. Selna led in the batting with two singles and a three-bagger, all of which brought in runners. Score: Stocktons, 22; Oaklands, 6.

THE SACHAMENTOS WIN.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 21.—Had it not been for a batting streak, aided by a couple of fielding errors in the last inning, the San Franciscos would have been shut out this afternoon by the Sacramentos. Zeigler and Barray were the opposing pitchers. The former was by far the more effective, striking out eight of the San Francisco's heavy hitters, and allowing but eight hits, while Barry allowed seven hits, struck on seven men, and gave three men their bases on balls.

In the ninth inning the San Franciscos did some lucky playing. Stock well gained second on Newbert's throw to first. Perrier followed with a single. Powers flew out to Gagus and Stockwell scored. Thompson hit safely to center, and was followed by another by Swett to Goodenough, which he failed to hold, and Perrier scored. Barry followed with a double to right field, and Thompson and Swett came home. Donahue hit to Newbert, and an error gave the latter his base, and let Barry score. Levy hit to O'Day, and Donahue blocked the ball, and ended the game after the inning had netted the San Franciscos five runs. Score: Sacramento, 7; San Francisco, 5.

HART'S VISIT.

HAS HE REALLY DISCOVERED THE WILL IN THIS CITY?

A Lady Who Knew Old Man Blythe England, and Says Little "Flo" Is the Dead Man's Daughter - Mr. Hart Leaves for San Francisco.

Ex-Atty.-Gen. W. H. H. Hart's visit to Los Angeles in connection with the famous Blythe estate case, now going on in San Francisco, has excited much interest. As foreshadowed in yesterday's TIMES, he is said to have found the will left by Thomas Blythe, and which has never before turned up. Whether that be so or not, the con-nection of some Los Angeles people with the case is interesting, and two persons at least will prove quite material witnesses in the case. Mr. Hart was in the city three days, and left yesterday noon for San Francisco. His investigations while here were constant and energetic, and he seemed, in conversation just before leaving, to feel very well satisfied that he had scored important points toward the success of establishing the identity of Miss Florence Blythe as the daughter of Thomas Blythe.

In fact, that was one of the important objects of his visit, and to which he devoted as much attention as to the discovery of the will. One of to the discovery of the will. One of the principal points in dispute has been the absolute identification of Florence Blythe as the daughter of the deceased. It is alleged that the weak point in the chain of the identification is a hiatus of one or two years, which cannot be accounted for in the life of the young lady. Therefore all evidence tending to strengthen the record of Miss Florence has been eagerly searched for by the attorneys. As a result of his visit Mr. Hart discovered two persons whose testimony

Äs a result of his visit Mr. Hart discovered two persons whose testimony will be directly to the point, if allowed to be introduced. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cherry are the witnesses alluded to. It was discovered by Mr. Hart that they were in San Francisco during the last years of Thomas Blythe's lifetime. Mrs. Cherry was well acquainted with him for some time before his death, which took place in April, 1883. At that time she was engaged in some special medical investigations, and treated Mr. Blythe for heart trouble. A part of the treatment consisted in treated Mr. Blythe for heart trouble. A part of the treatment consisted in the injection of fresh blood into the left arm of the patient, and the application of a sulphur bandage.

In the course of their acquaintance Mr. Blythe grew to be quite friendly with Mrs. Cherry, and talked freely of his life and affairs. He frequently mentioned Florence Blythe as his child, and her mother also, known as Mrs. Ashcroft. He told Mrs. Cherry that while he was in Europe he lived very while he was in Europe he lived very highly; that he had elegant rooms, where Mrs. Ashcroft occasionally vis-ited him. It was a quiet affair, but sometimes Mrs. Ashcroft would remain with him for a week or two at a time.

The old man told Mrs. Cherry that the result of this union was the child, the result of this union was the child, who now appears as the claimant of the large estate. The conversations he had with Mrs. Cherry continued until a short time previous to Mr. Blythe's death. He showed her pictures of the girl, and said that he had had a picture of her taken every year since also was born. He never in the confidence given to Mrs. Cherry denied that

Mrs. Cherry has photographs of the deceased millionaire, and also of the woman who claims to be his wife, Mrs. Edith Blythe; who is fighting Florence Blythe, together with the other innumerable claimants.

It seems that erable claimants.

It seems that Florence Blythe has been in this country for the past three or four years, and with her mother, Mrs. Asheroft, lived in Oakland. The reason that is given for their absolute silence and failure to enter upon the race for the estate until recently, is that they decided to wait until all possible claimants had presented themselves and their claims to the courts; then to come in at the proper time and prove her identity as the long lost daughter.

such document will be produced.

Mr. Hart claims to have seen a copy of it, but is very reticient concerning it. He says that even without a will, there will be a bombshell in the case sometime this week, and that they will be able to thoroughly establish Miss Florence's right to the estate as the acknowledged daughter of the deceased.

The music teacher, who is said to have taught the little girl in England, is absolutely silent, and will say nothing in regard to the matter, more than that she was Miss Florence's music teacher; England that she was Miss Florence's music teacher in England.

It is very singular that a will should be in existence in Los Angeles, and that it should have been locked up until this particular time, when its production will be of such importance. What motives could have operated to keep it undiscovered until the present time remain yet to be developed, especially as, by its provisions, Miss Florence. Blythe is the beneficiary. Whatever truth there may be in the will story, there is no doubt that Los Angeles will contribute two important witnesses in establishing what Thomas Blythe said himself in regard to his supposed daughter.

NATIONAL ENCAMPMENT.

Department Commander Gard Issues a Circular. Department Commander George E. Gard has issued a circular in regard to the twenty-third National Encampment of the Grand Army at Milwau-

He says that the indications are that there will be a much larger encamp-ment than ever before, notwithstanding the newspaper reports. He thinks it desirable that California shall be represented further by an exhibit of her products at Milwaukee, and therefore recommends the different post commanders to appoint commit-tees to confer with citizens and boards of trade in their respective towns, and of trade in their respective towns, and take such steps as may be deemed best to have every locality represented by as many Grand Army comrades as possible, and by choice specimens of its products. Articles designed for exhibition should be forwarded to John Q. Brown, general manager Board of Trade, San Francisco, not later than the last of July. The railroads will transport them free of charge. Further contributions can be forwarded to Milwaukee about August 18th.

Gen. Gard also hopes that no comrade will be deterred from going by the action of persons in Chicago. All intending to go are requested to send their names and addresses to Francis H. Bacon, Assistant Adjutant-General, G.A.R., Los Angeles.

THE DRAMA.

Events-Notes From the North and East. Grand Opera-house, for the of July 29th, Robert Mantell will his first appearance in this city in D'Ennery's picturesque heroic drams, Monbars. As an actor, Mr. ell is said to have no superior in ne. 'His drama, Monbars, has a rs' record of success, and is a y of unusual strength. The commy supporting Mr. Mantell is highly mmended, and it includes many well on artists, among them being Miss otte Behrens, a handsome Calilan of decided dramatic ability.

MAN OVERBOARD.

Strange Sight on Board the Yacht Hattie.

Last Friday one of the jolliest parties that ever sailed the broad Pacific left San Pedro in the vacht Hattie for Catalina Island. "Johnnie," the genial Santa Monica "con.," and "Billy," the Wells-Fargo & Co. athlete, and about twenty ladies and gentlemen made up the party. A majority of them hail from the East, and are out here for the summer, and Johnnie and Billy are doing all in their power to As far as the will is concerned, it yet remains to be seen whether or not any such document will be produced.

Billy was sitting close by talking "sweet nothings" to a pretty Boston girl, but Johnnie's voice knocked him silly, and, turning to the warbler, he ejaculated: "It's against the rules to sing White Wings' on this boat, and the next man who is caught in the act will be thrown overboard." Johnnie closed his mouth and had not a word to say, but he did a powerful lot of thinking, as subsequent events will prove. Billy's girl seemed to put on a sad turn of mind, for the love light left her eyes and Billie soon quit her side. He sought a secluded spot and mournfully gazed into the great deep.
"Ha, ha," laughed Johnnie. "I'll get even for that insult yet," and he s ilently drew near Billy. The craft had reached a point about a mile from the wharf, when Billie struck up "White Wings." He

He didn't make much noise, but Johnnie's ears make much noise, but Johnnie's ears were expecting something of the kind, and quicker than a flash he was along-side of the mournful warbler, and with one mighty boost he sent poor Billy flying through the air. He landed flat on his back, and with a fearful splash went out of sight. The whole party saw the performance, and for a second or two they stood in open-mouthed astonishment. The ladies began to scream, and the men made for the life-boat. The yacht was making good speed, and before the boat could be lowered poor Billy had been left several hundred yards behind. He is a fine swimmer, but when the boys

The heroine of the play is thrown into the river by the villian, and, after sinking for the third time, is rescued by the hero, who makes a dive from a rock 26 feet above the river, and brings her to the surface just as she is sinking.

NOTES AND PERSONALS.

Lilly Clay's company of females has been doing a land office business upnorth. Any good show can do the same, but bad companies don't flourish in this "glorious climate of Californy."

They Have a Big Kick Against the Santa Fe.

Yesterday about 50 excursionists came up to Los Angeles from Redondo Beach, and had a good time visiting around among their friends. At 5:3 o'clock in the afternoon they wended their way to the Santa Fé depot expecting to go home, but were sadly disappointed when they discovered that the last return train left at 1:05. Trains are advertised to leave for Re-Trains are advertised to leave for Redondo at 5:30 daily except Sundays, and the excursion party made a mistake in reading the time-table. This change was made during the past week. Some of them were very angry, and declared that the company had not properly advertised the change. Col. Williamson Dunn was seen by a TIMES representative, and stated that the change was properly anounced as the change was properly announced a few days ago. The party purchased Sunday excursion tickets, which will not be good today. The closing scenes at Chicago were such as to induce the belief that racing there has not reached that highly moral standpoint so conducive to its popular success. On Friday last, in the last race Hindoceraft and Princess Bowling were to meet, and a certain party of speculators backed Princess Bowling in every poolroom in the country, until finally the bookmakers refused to lay more against her. Tonight the hotel band is giving a concert on the dock, and hundreds are gathered to listen, and when the band ceases the waves take up the music. The Rambler came in this afternoon with a party from Los Angeles, and the White Wings, Sea Lion, Lone Star and several other crack yachts are giving the bay a charming appearance with their twinkling lights.

The Hermosa brought over a large contingent today, and at 5 o'clock the Falcon came steaming in with the Harbor Commissioners' party, composed of Hon. W. H. English, chairman of the board, J. W. The commissioners had been inspecting the creosote works of the Southern Pacific Company at San Pedro, and ran over to spend the night and possibly Sunday at the Metropole, and see what Los Angeles county barracuda tasted like, not to speak of abalone chowder a la Waterman, and whitefish (not Steve), et al.

Thursday evening an impromptu concert was given at the hotel, and Saturday night a grand ball is to beheld at the Metropole, accounts of which will be given later.

Catalina has one of the rarest curiosities on exhibition to be found on the Pacific Coast. They call it a "boom." The name has a familiar twang to it. Lots are in active demand here, and a large number of land sales have been made during the week, Dr. Thomas of Pasadena securing one of the finest frontages north of the Metropole, on "Breezy Point." By next year some fine cottages will dot the little bay, which already boasts some charming summer homes. Choice lots of this "boom" will be bottled and charming summer homes. Choice lots of this "boom" will be bottled and of this "boom" will be bottled and sent to Los Angeles as curiosities on application. You buy a lot here and have 20 miles of water frontage. This includes jewfish, big bass, flying fish, whales, sea lions, etc. These inducements seem to have been forgotten by real estate men, but they count and are worth more than "view."

Some Pasadena gentlemen broke the barracuda record this afternoon by taking 49 fish in a little over an hour, and almost every family in town had the delicious fish for dinner. Like the buefish, it should be eaten just out of the water.

A visit to the beach at night well pays one, the exhibition of phosphorescent animals being striking in the extreme. A splash in the water reveals millions of lights, while in the greater depths big moons of light come and go, appear and reappear, affording an interesting study of a very little-understood subject.

Every canon on Catalina has its quota of campers, the most attractive and artistic being Camp Greenleaf, of Seymour E. Locke of Lockhaven, Pasa-Seymour E. Locke of Lockhaven, Pasadena. Mr. Locke has his family with him, and is enjoying life immensely. Friday night he gave probably the first dinner party ever given on Catalina. PASADENA, July 21.—[Correspondence of The Times.] Bobbie Heston, leader of the gunny-sackers, still languishes in durance vile. The youth is visited each day by ladies of the several churches, who surround him with their Christian influences. Bobbie's food, too, is bought at a restaurant, so the lad is getting his share of the sweets of the outside world. This is the seventh day of his incarceration, and tomorrow he should be discharged.

PROPERTY SALES. George Sheaff, the delivery clerk at the postoffice, has purchased a $1500 cottage on Worcester avenue. He will remove his family there about August 1st.

M. D. Painter, a few days ago, sold his handsome cottage on the corner of Raymond avenue and Washington street in North Pasadena. The purchaser is W. S. Holland, who will cocupy the house upon the return of his family from Catalina Island. HERE AND THERE.

WHAT LAW COSTS People who like to go to war with their neighbors, or who become involved in a conflict over the settlemen their neighbors, or who become involved in a conflict over the settlement of an estate, can gain an adequate idea from the following figures of how expensive a luxury it is. The recent bitter fight over the estate of Isaac Banta, who died in Ohio, last May, one year ago, furnishes figures which it would be well for anyone to peruse carefully before they get a fit of the fever "they will let the law decide." It is true this case could have been amicably settled, but when the reputation of a leading citizen is questioned, then there must be a vindication of all charges. The history of the suit has been published from day to day in the columns of The Times, and the details eagerly devoured.

Few people, however, know on what grounds the suit was brought, and what disposition the deceased made of his property. The disposition, which was considered by all right-mined persons a just distribution, was made in this way: To each of two grand-children in Ohio he gave $15,000; to Mattie, his youngest daughter, $16,000, she having been made, by the will of her mother, a legatee of $55,000; to Moss. Pierce, the eldest daughter, $40,000 was given, to be divided equally among her four children at her death. This was the division the old gentleman made for his offspring. The stenographic reports and type-writing manuscript cost just $1175. The evidence on the side of the plaintiff foots up to about $2000, while that on the other side, which also the plaintiff is compelled to pay, amounts to exactly $2700. The jury was paid $450, while the legal fraternity got the biggest part of the pie-mearly $4000. The Banta estate will suffer, in all, about $10,000.

THE Philadelphia Record says that oil wells will dry up; that the supply in this country is rapidly falling off, and that scientific experts say the fields will be exhausted in a few years. That may be the case in some of the eastern fields, but here, in Southern California, we have hardly begun to tap our oil deposits.

STRICTLY speaking, says the Globe-Democrat, the North Dakota proposition to have United States Senators chosen by a direct popular vote is contrary to the Constitution; but it is possible, nevertheless, to provide a way for the people to express their prefer ence in that connection, and public sentiment would probably compel the recognition of such preference by the

THAT lying item about Los Angeles county owing $40 for every inhabitant, is still going the rounds of the eastern papers. Moreover, the San Francisco Bulletin, in which the paragraph was originally published, copied it a few days ago from a Philadelphia paper, with credit, as if it was something new. Los Angeles must certainly be an important county, or they wouldn't take the trouble to lie about us so.

After the harvest, the stones will probably be placed where they can do some good.

A RECENT investigation shows that the power that runs to waste in Niagara Falls is equal to that which could be produced by the consumption of 150,000,000 tons of coal, annually. At $3.30 a ton, this would be $500,000,000. which means that the Falls of Niagara, if it could be utilized, would pay per cent on the enormous sum of $5,000,000,000. Who will be the first to harness this gigantic motive power, that is now going to waste?

THE DISPOSITION OF WEALTH.

The National Economist is a recenty-established weekly, published at Washington, and claiming to repre-sent, officially, the Farmers' Alliance and other farmers' associations, containing in the aggregate over a million members. The farmers of this country, as of most others, are conservative in their sentiments. They do not sympathize with any anarchistic doctrines, as well they may not, for it is they who are among the first and last to suffer, in case. of any communistic uprising. They have everything to ose and nothing to gain by a sudden subversion of the present state of social affairs. Then again, the farmer are the substratum upon which all modern society is based. Without any other class, we could jog along after a manner, but were all the farmers to strike, society would come to a full stop, and life itself would, to a great extent, cease or become very precarious. It is the farmer who, ultimately, bears all the burdens of the Government, and it is the farmer who, in the long run, in spite of the machinations of smart politicians who endeavor to use him as a tool, holds the trump card about election time. For these reasons, the views of an organ representing so many farmers, on any great social question, are of interest and measurably of importance.

In a recent issue the journal referred to has an article on the disposition of wealth, in which it points out that, under modern conditions, men are enabled, in a few years, to amass great wealth, the fortunes of today surpassing in magnitude the wildest dreams of a century ago. Machinery has wonderfully augmented our power of production, and manipulators have succeeded in so modifying the distribution of the increase that the great gain accrues to them instead of the producer. So successful have they been, that laborers who perform th various acts of production today re-ceive less for their entire product than they did prior to the agvent of im-

Such being the case, it becomes a question of some interest to the pub lic what these millionaires will do with their wealth when they die. In this country, they cannot tie it up so that an heir cannot dissipate it, and therefore it cannot permanently found a wealthy family. As a rule, a great fortune is the greatest curse a man can leave his family. Charitable bequests are often made the basis of extensive litigation. There seems to be only three prominent ways in which a wealthy man can dispose of his for-tune: either to leave it to his children, donate it to charitable purposes at his death, or administer it himself. The last is undoubtedly the best plan of the three, though few adopt it; the ceived notions which they may have second can do no harm and may do good, but when he proposes to bestow his millions upon his children, the policy of allowing him to curse th and probably society-is questioned by

On this subject Andrew Carnegie. himself a very wealthy man, recently published an article in the North American Review, in which he takes the position that there should be a limit to the amount of property which a father could bequeath to his children; that the limit should be ample, and that the surplus should go to the Government, where it would benefit the whole people. The National Econo mist thinks that the dissipation of a large fortune by debauchery, extravagance, waste and bad management must have a bad effect in general upon all legitimate interests and occupa tions, and that, therefore, such a limitation as that proposed by Mr. Carne gie is both just and desirable. It believes, however, that this proposi-ONE of the chief doctrines of the tion does not go far enough; that we Baylettes, a new religious company in should strike at the root of the evil, a list of prominent citizens as officers, and, instead of bestowing effort to correct the evil effect of conditions that tend to create a nation of millionaires and paupers, we should aim to correct those conditions themselves, and augment the ranks of the great middle class of society. In other words, that while there is a necessity for limiting the amount of wealth a father may leave a son, there is a much greater no cessity to provide against the necessity for such action in the future.

That there is more than considerable truth in this view of the case must be admitted, when we read that amon 2000 of the fallen women of New York and Brooklyn who had tried to live b work, before entering upon that life, 230 got $3 per week, 336 got $2 per week and 534 got $1 per week. This does not sound very well alongside those lists of many-time millionaires and the descriptions of their sump the press is a cond of publishing.

One of the means of arresting the undue accumulation of wealth in a few hands, which has been successfully tried in some countries, is cumulative taxation. In several of the cantons of Switzerland this practice is enforced tax there is on incomes, but it could be applied just as well on capital. A man whose income is, for instance, say under $250 a year, will pay no tax at all; from $250 to $500 will pay 1 per cent., and so on, up to the maximum of 10 per cent. This is certainly just, cause a man with $100,000 a year can far better afford to pay $10,000 out of his superfluity, than a man with only $500 could afford to pay $50. It might not, however, be necessary to go as far as cumulative taxation, if we could only get fair taxation—if the wealthy could be forced to bear their due share of the burden. It is not necessary for us to argue that they fall very far short of doing this at present in America All that is needed is to peruse the list of wealthy citizens of each county, with the amounts they pay taxes on, as published in most of the papers every vear.

The eloquent Patrick Henry said "We can only judge the future by the past." A Boston paper adduces these striking facts from the past:

When Egypt went down, 3 per cent of he opulation owned 97 per cent. of her wealth The people were starved to death.
When Babylon went down, 2 per cent the population owned all the wealth. 7 people were starved to death.

When Persia went down, 1 per cent. of the population owned the land. When Rome went down, 1800 men owned the known world.

When Rollie well town, which we have well to the known world.

And adds:
During the last twenty years, the United States has rapidly followed in the steps of the old nations. Here are the figures:
In 1850, capitalists owned 37½ per cent. of the Nation's wealth.
In 1870 they owned 63 per cent.
How much do they own today?

A NEW FRENCH NATURALIZA-TION LAW.

A new law in France, defining the status of aliens, is of great importance, and has caused some complaint in this country. The Government not long ago issued a decree requiring the regis tration of foreigners, with particulars as to birth, parentage and residence. Now it follows this with a statute, the effect of which is to constitute French, conditionally, the children of foreign parents who are born in France. It is made possible, however, for the first generation of French birth to escape, because French nationality may be declined by a specific act of renunciation when the person has attained his majority, even though he be actually domiciled in France. But for the second generation there is no escape. Every person born in the country whose father has likewise been born there becomes under the statute, a Frenchman pure and simple, subject to the require-ments of military service, and all the other responsibilities of French citizenship. There are over a million aliens in France who are affected by this statute.

There is nothing very unreasonable in this. . A foreigner's son, born in the United States, is an American citizen. and there is nothing unfair or exacting in the action of the French Republic in declaring that the sons of foreigners whose fathers were born in France must accept the responsibilities of French citizens. Americans who ob ject to the law can avoid its action by removing from the country. But a third generation, born in a foreign country, can certainly have little claim on the home Government.

THE more the sewer matter is dis cussed, the more apparent does it be come that an election for bonds, based on an outfall sewer, by way of Ballona would run considerable chance of re sulting unfavorably to the project There is little or no factious opposition on the part of responsible citizens. In fact, the sentiment is practically unanimous as to the immediate need of some method of disposing of our sew age, but there is a very strong disin clination to vote an exceedingly large sum of money for what may prove to be an extravagant and undesirable plan. It is to be hoped that the Council will rouse themselves to the level o the occasion; set aside any precon imbibed, and be willing to act solely for the best interest of the city. We need a sewer system. There are n ways than one of constructing it.

Some idea of the profit to be derive from the beet-sugar industry may be formed from the fact that the relater, at Brehna, Germany, paid during the season of 1888-89 dividends of 1100 marks to the share. These shares are of a par value of only 1000 marks, so that here is seen the extraor dinary spectacle of a business that pays 110 per cent profit in a single season. The experience of the refinery at Landsberg is encouraging, though not equal to the preceding case. The latter establishment paid dividends of $1000 marks on shares costing 3000 w marks each-no small profit under any

Los Angeles is rather short of manufactories, it is true, but it seems hardly worth while to keep standing, in enormous letters, on a building in the northern part of the city, the words "Dry Sparkling Champagne Co.," with headed by Dr. G. Hamilton Griffin, the off-color fakir, who at present languishes in a British Columbia bastile. One would suppose that the prom. cits in question would not enjoy such proracted advertisement of their names in connection with that malodorous

JUSTICE MILLER, in Harper's Monthly, says that the 35,000,000 acres of land constituting the State of Iowa has no equal in capacity for profitable cultivation, for salubrity of climate, for variety of production, and for all that goes to make a happy, a prosperous and a contented community, whose wealth and support grow out of the cultivation of the soil. If Mr. Miller had said "except the 100 000,000 acres of California," we might be inclined to agree with him.

The Late Mrs. Haves. The Late Mrs. Hayes.

Mrs. Allen G. Thurman, in speaking of Mrs. Hayes, said: "I have known Mrs. Hayes—I always called her Lucy—from childhood, in fact, since she was scarcely able to run alone. We lived in the same neighborhood, and well do I remember that during the cholera in 1833 her father, Dr. Webb, felt it his duty to go and see his parents cholera in 1833 her father, Dr. Webb, felt it his duty to go and see his parents in Kentucky. When he arrived he found his sister dead, and afterward his father died. The Doctor himself soon followed. From childhood Lucy was the prettiest girl I ever saw. She was pretty, but that was not her chief attraction. It was her lovable nature that won all hearts, and her friendship, once secured, knew no change. She was always, up to the time of her death, the same true and devoted friend, and a more charming woman could not be imagingd. Her parents were the very best people in the country and could not be imagined. Her parents were the very best people in the country and of high character. Lucy was carefully reared and the teachings of her mother, together with her high sense of right, enabled her to quietly and becomingly continue her home life while the first lady of the land, and she performed her duties with such winning ways as to gladden the hearts of the mothers of the land. The White House was never presided over with more grace than by Lucy Hayes and never contained a nobler woman. Her death will be mourned by every true woman in the land.

The First Car.

The cable company sent the first car over the First street line last night, going over the viaduct, the motive power being a couple of able-bodied horses. The trip was made without incident. The cable will be stretched in a day or two, and the road is expected to be in operation by the first of the month.

THE CHURCHILLS. The Father and Daughter Again

Being Looked After. eral days ago one Dr. Churchill, who figured in the police court some months ago, was arrested on com-plaint of his wife as a common drunk. At that time Churchill was accompanied by a 16-year-old girl, his stepdaughter, who followed her father around while on his sprees; occupying the same room with him, and generally conducting herself in anything but a proper manner. After being locked up for a day or two the singular couple were released, and went home with the wife and mother. Nothing more was heard of the family until a few days ago, when Humane Officer Wright found Churchill on the streets suffering from incipient delirium treneus. ing from incipient delirium tremans, and brought him to the station, where he was locked up for medical treatment. The girl was not with Churchill, and Officer Wright at once commenced and officer wight at once commenced making inquiries to find out what he could about them. It was ascertained that some three months ago Mrs. Churchill found homes for her three youngest children, also a good place in an excellent family for her daughter Lizzie, the 16-var-old one, to work at good cellent family for her daughter Lizzie, the 16-year-old one, to work at good wages. She then found a position for herself in a first-class family in this city, and told her drunken and worth-less husband that he would have to look out for himself hereafter.

He left the city and went to Riverside. About six weeks ago he wrote down to Lizzie to leave her place and come up to Riverside and live with him. She complied with his request, and remained with him until last week. Mrs. Churchill worried so much over

Mrs. Churchill worried so much over her daughter that she felt as if she would go insane if she did not get her to return to her. She finally plead with some of her friends to assist her in the matter. They called on Officer Wright, and a telegram was sent to the daughter asking her to return. The Doctor would not let her come, but instead came himself last Tuesday after Lizzie's trunks, which ahe had left with a lady friend. The day after his arrival he got on a regular drunk and went to call on his wite. The family, not wishing his presence, sent for Officer Wright to take him in charge. He did so, and took him to the police station and had him locked up. While he was in prison his wife went to Riverside wright to take him in charge. He did so, and took him to the police station and had him locked up. While he was in prison his wife went to Riverside and brought her daughter back. She is nearly 16, and a bright, attractive young girl. She is evidently very much under the influence of her stepfather. He is telling everybody that she is his own daughter, and only a stepdaughter of Mrs. Churchill. But, on questioning Lizzie, she told Officer Wright that he is only her step-father, and Mrs. Churchill is her own mother, but says that she wants to live with her step-father because she loves him. Officer Wright is satisfied that he is a villain, and intends to find her another home and give her another trial. If that fails, he will try to have her sent to a reform school.

It is a singular case all round, and a close watch will be kept on the pair until their real relations are found out, and if anything criminal exists, Churchill will be prosecuted.

LETTERS TO THE TIMES change Law-Who Are Executive Officers?

Los Arekles, July 20.—[To the Edit of Trues.] I observe in The Trues.] I observe in The Trues. of the 19th that Judge Owens with the concurrence of the prosecu-tion, held that a policeman was not an executive officer, and that there is no law providing for the punishment of an attempt to bribe a member of the police force. If this decision were the police force. If this decision were the law, the community would be in a condition to need protection. Fortunately it is sustained neither by the statute or by controlling judicial decision. Section 67 of the Penal Code, under which the complaint seems to have been framed, does, it is true, declare that it is an offense to offer a bribe to an executive officer, just as section 69 provides that it is a crime to prevent an executive officer from performing his duties. his duties. Section 68 is to the effect that an ex-Section 68 is to the effect that an ex-ecutive officer who receives a bribe is guilty of a crime. This provision was before the Supreme Court in People vs. Markham, 64 Cal., 157, and it was there held that a police officer who accepted a bribe had been properly convicted. And an information under the same section charging a policeman with bribery was upheld in People vs. Edson, 68 Cal., 549. Unless there is some exemption in favor of Los Angeles police officers, or those who attempt to bribe such officers, Judge Owens cannot be justified. Executive officers are defined by section 343 of the Political Code, and the definition includes "such other officers as ld that a police officer who ac tion includes "such other officers as fill offices created by or under the authority of general laws for the government of counties, cities and towns, or of the charters or special laws affecting the same," etc. But if we assume that the learned judge was correct in holding, as THE TIMES says he held, that a policeman is a ministerial officer, still the complaint was good and he was wrong, because section 77 of the Penal Code, which is a part of the chapter in which rection 87 is contained a reads thus section 67 is contained, reads thus:

"The various provisions of this chapter apply to administrative and ministerial officers in the same manner as if they were mentioned therein.

ANTI-BRIBERY. County Licenses Los Angeles, July 17.—[To the Editor of The Times.] When you published the schedule of county lipublished the schedule of county li-censes now prososed by the supervi-sors, you said "it will raise quite a breeze." It ought to raise a whirl-wind! Why, what can be their ideas at such a time as the present? Is it possible to create a fat office, $500 or up per month, for a collector at 10 per cent? Even in boom times, when every business and occupation was good, yea flush, such a scheme was not thought flush, such a scheme was not thought of; but boom times are long gone, severe reaction is having its day, and severe reaction is having its day, and giving us a hard deal, and every person in retail and wholesale business is curtailing at all points, trying to keep their heads above water. It is in fact patent to every resident of this county that much business is at present conducted without profit, and only kept going in hopes of better things in the good time coming (only wait a little longer).

Supervisors should explain! Their proposition is not even low down or moderate. In fact, they are about double the amount of city and county licenses levied in San Francisco. I refer to liceuses for mercantile pursuits.

Then as to differential licenses. Why, is a business of $20,000 and over per month to pay only twice the sum i.e. $30, that a business of $5000 down t.e. $30, that a business of $5000 down to $1300 is to pay t.e. $15? Would not this be overwhelming the small trader with a vengeance? Banking of $250,000 rest, and his wife begins.

or over, or even if it is $5,000,000 per quarter, to pay $50. Insurance companies, for $5000 receipt of premiums per quarter, to pay $10, and yet the retail busines (with some capital invested) of $1300 per month, or say $4000 per quarter, is to pay $15.

In the foregoing comparisons there is neither equity nor propriety, and apparently not the proper conception of the proposition as it is!

It seems most strange that such a tax should be undertaken now, and to such an extraordinary extent, in view of the fact that for five previous years, and the west previous years. and the most prosperous the county has ever had, it was not even thought of. Most respectfully yours.

Progress—Camping—Beet-sugar Cul-ture—The Indian School. SAN JACINTO (Cal.), July 19.—[Corespondence of THE TIMES.] At pres ent San Jacinto, as well as several other of the smaller towns in San Diego county, is somewhat depopulated by the mad rush to Strawberry Valley. This valley is located up on the side of San Jacinto peak, at an elevation of about 5000 feet, and is well patronor the mountains to the more exciting camp life on the coast. At present there about 200 people there, and represent all of the towns in the southern part of the State. Those coming from the same town form a colony and give the camp the name of the town they are from. Fallbrook takes the lead, with a population of 45. The San Jacinto settlement is somewhat divided, and forms several small colones in different parts of the valley.

The farmers here are taking considerable interest in the culture of the erable interest in the culture of the sugar beet, and are experimenting with the plants all over the valley. Our soil has been analyzed and found to contain all the necessary constitutents for the successful growing of the beets. There is perhaps no valley in Southern California better suited to the location of a sugar factory than is this. Two thousand acres of heavy timber will furnish the necessary fuel; there are two lime kilns which will furnish the lime, and with plenty of water and convenient transportation there is

The school at the Saboba Indian village, just across the river from town, closed for the summer week before last. It is surprising how readily these Indians take to the study of the common branches, more especially writing and drawing, while on the average they read well. Their teacher, Miss they read well. Their teacher, Miss Mary Noble, reports an enrollment of thirty pupils, but, like the typical American country school, the older boys have to stay out when the spring farm work begins, consequently the attendance was much less during the last three months of the term.

The majority of the farmers do not intend to sell their barley at the present low prices, and are storing it in the different warehouses in the valley, and those who are compelled to have money are getting it on their ware-louse receipts. They all anticipate better prices during the winter season. Elsinore parties have been in the valley this week looking up a source of water supply for their new invication.

A Sure Token

One of the sure tokens of returning activity in the commercial world is a general and perceptible improvement in the railroad traffic of the country. Reports from all sections show an increase of force and a revival of business in the railroad traffic of the country. Reports from all sections show an increase of force and a revival of business on the leading lines, which suffered from a depression of trade caused by the open winter, and the consequent small demand for fuel. With the large movement of population which is taking place in the United States this spring, and with the fine prospects for crops all over the land, the present year promises to be one of great prosperity for the railroads.

THE POLICE MUDDLE.

A CLASH OF AUTHORITY BE-TWEEN THE TWO CHIEFS.

Mr. Burns Declares Himself, and Insists That He Is the Legal Head of the Department - His Address to the Force-The Outlook for Today-The Council and the Police Commissioners-What They Will Do.

The dull monotony of the situation in police circles, which has existed since Wednesday last, was broken yes-terday morning by the first open and direct clash of authority between the two heads of the department. Just before the noon watch went out, Mr. Glass approached Sergt. Finucane and asked him why Officer Fay, who had been reinstated at the last meeting of the commission, had not been put to work. The Sergeant replied that he had received no orders to do so, and therefore had no authority in the prem ises, and referred Mr. Glass to Capt. Harris as his superior officer. The Captain then explained matters to Mr. Glass, and asked him by what authority he interfered in the management affairs about the station. Mr. Glass replied that he did so by authority of the instructions given him by the Police Commission. He did not claim, as he said, to be Chief of Police claim, as he said, to be Chief of Police as yet, as his bond had not been finally approved, but he was a regularly sworn in officer, and had been designated by that body as the officer in charge of the department. Capt. Harris declined to recognize this authority, saying that he had never been officially notified of any such action, and as long as he was on duty at the station he should decline to permit any one to give orders to the men. The Captain further appealed to Mr. Glass, as an officer, not to put the men in an equivocal position by giving them orders, which would lead to their suspension if they were obeyed, and posequivocal position by giving them orders, which would lead to their suspension if they were obeyed, and possibly to their removal if they were not. There was some further talk between the officials, when the matter was dropped for the time being, and just before the noon watch Chief Burns addressed the men, saying that while it had been rumored that he had been removed and another man appointed in his place, such was not the case. He should therefore expect the men to look to him for their orders, and he expected them to be obeyed as implicitly in the future as they had been in the past. He might be removed, but until it was legally done, he should expect to be treated with the proper respect which his position demanded. He then asked the men if they were willing to do this, and said that if there were any in the ranks who were not prepared to obey orders they could hand in their stars, and would be relieved at once from duty.

mand of Sergt. Jeffries. The roll was called as usual, when the Chief stopped in front of the squad, and addrased them in substantially the same terms as he had the morning watch, especially emphasizing the fact that the most implicit obedience to his orders would be insisted upon, and concluded by stating that any officer not being willing to obey the instructions given by him through his officers would be suspended, and could hand in his star at once.

At the conclusion of his remarks, the Chief turned to the Sergeant and men, and asked him if they fully understood him and were prepared to act accordingly. They said that they did, and were then sent out on their duties. The mounted men were admonished in like manner, and there being no protest, all went out as usual. Mr. Glass was not present at the station, nor were any orders presented from him

This action of Chief Burns has brought matters to a focus, and until matters are straightened, but little efficient work can be looked for from the force, for, while they will certainly not specified by the authorities in possession, they will certainly not take any more chances of offending the commission than they are obliged to, and as a consequence absolutely nothing will be done. matters are straightened, but little effi-

THE OUTLOOK TODAY. Much interest is manifested in the probable action of the Council today, which, it is believed, will take decisive steps to straighten out matters, and get police matters in proper shape again. There was some talk about the removal of the entire commission, but persons in a position to know say nothing of this sort will be attempted—at least until the present knot is untiled. It is an open secret that Mr. Bonsall and Capt. Knox had a long conversation after the special meeting of the Council Friday, in which the Councilman tried to convince the Commissioner that in the interest of harmony and good government they should send in their resignations at once. The Commissioner declined to see the matter in this light, insisting that it was unfair to ask them to retreat under fire, and saying that such action on their part would be a tacit acknowledgment that they were wrong—a resitten in which they could not offer and static that they were wrong—as a series of the control of the council of t probable action of the Council today. was unfair to ask them to retreat under fire, and saying that such action on their part would be a tacit acknowledgment that they were wrong—a position in which they could not afford to place themselves. The whole matter was thoroughly gone over, and it is believed that an understanding was arrived at before the interview closed. It was also hinted yesterday that the Mayor would send a scorching message to the Council, returning Glass's bond without approval, on the ground that no vacancy exists in the office of the Colice, and that therefore there is no necessity for any action. It is also said that His Honor will attack the legality of the action of his colleagues, and score them for the manner in which they attempted to remove Burns and put in Glass. Of course the Mayor himself declines to say what he will do in advance, but from some of the flat-footed utterances which have come from the Chief Executive since the trouble, the document is likely to be an interesting one.

Among other things, it was also said that an effort would be made to reduce the salary of the Mayor's clerk, but none of the Council could be found who would say that this step had been considered.

At 2 o'clock the Police Commissioners will also meet at the City Clerk's office, as they say, for the transaction of regular routine business that went over from the previous session. When asked by a TIMES reporter last night whether any further action would be taken in regard to the Chief, Mr.

Lindley said he did not know of anything that was necessary to be done They had removed Burns and put in Glass, and the latter officer was in charge of the force, and would take his position as soon as his bond was approved. Siill, if anything came up that needed attention, it would receive it promptly. He was consident that everything would come out all right. Chief Burns, it is said, has determined to make a fight, and will carry the case to the Supreme Court if it is necessary, unless he is convinced in the meantime that he is in the wrong, in which case everything will be dropped.

A Prize Fight—The Tennis Associa-tion—A New Church.

SANTA MONICA, July 21.—[Corre-spondence of The Times.] Santa Monica is determined to keep up in the front ranks on every proposition, so she has now had a genuine prize fight to a finish. The contestants were young Abbott of Los Angeles and a negro known as "Joe," and the fight was with hard gloves, Marquis of Queensberry rules. The pugilists came down from town on the late train last night, and an hour after their arrival they were in the ring, which was pitched in the rear of a well-known sporting-house. Both men were featherweights, and it was a short, decisive battle. Abbott had things all his own weights, and it was a short, decisive battle. Abbott had things all his own way, driving the negro all about the place in the first two rounds, and finally knocking him out in the third round, Abbott was challenged this morning by "Negro Bob," a well-known puglist, to fight for $250 and the championship of Santa Monica.

According to programme, the executive committee of the Lawn Tennis Association of Southern California assembled in the Arcadia last night for the purpose of holding the annual conference, and to make arrangements for the forthcoming tournament. Mr. Abbot Kinney was chairman and Mr. N. E. Swartwout was appointed secretary vice Mr. Saunders, who has gone to Seattle. The other representatives present were Messrs. H. B. Lockwood, G. L. Waring and W. H. Young. The first business on hand was as regards applications from new clubs, and the Racket Club of Los Angeles and the Tennis Club of Santa Monica were admitted into the association. It was then decided to hold the annual tournament in the courts of the Casino here, during the week commencing August 19th, and the 17th was set as the date for the convention of delegates. Messrs. Waring, Young and Swartwout were appointed a committee in charge of the tournament, and the following programme was arranged: Gents' singles, ladies' singles, gents'

He then asked the men if they were willing to do this, and said that if there were any in the ranks who were not prepared to obey orders they could hand in their stars, and would be relieved at once from duty. There was no response, and the watch was then sent out.

This little incident created a good deal of talk during the afternoon, and when the hour for the night relief to go out arrived, there was something of a crowd about the station to see whether the same instructions would be again given. As soon as time was called at 7:45 o'clock the doors were closed, and the men fell in under command of Sergt Jeffries. The roll was called as must, then the Chief sepped in 100 to the squad, and addressed them.

A big fire broke out this morning on the line of the Southern Pacific a mile or so out of town. A good deal of brush was destroyed, and some feared at one time that the town was in danger. An application of wet sacks soon controlled the conflagration, however.

All of the previous attendances on the beach were eclipsed today, and it was generally acknowledged that so many people have never before assembled on the sands at one time. The open-air exploits on North Beach were witnessed by thousands, and gave the utmost satisfaction, it was apparent. The Arcadia had such a rush that every room was soon occupied, and, as a good many visitors announced their intention of remaining for some time, it may be said that the season proper commenced today.

Frank Ellis had a long list of applications today for tenting accommodations on North Beach.

The new Scott road, from the bridge to the beach, was thrown open for the first time today, and was warmly welcomed by the visitors.

THE SUNDAY SERVICES LARGE LY ATTENDED.

The Last Sermons Are Preached by Rev. P. F. Bresee of Pasadeni on the "Gift of the Holy Ghost," and Rev. Dr. Sinex on "Publican and Sinners."

LONG BEACH, July 21.—[Correspondence of THE TIMES.] The assemble exercises yesterday were unusually in-teresting. There was a much larger attendance than during week days, the trains from Los Angeles bringing in a quota of those whose business not enable them to run down except on Sunday.

The devotional exercises took place as usual, at 8 o'clock.

At 9:30 o'clock the Sunday-school met, and there was a very large at tendance, fully 300 scholars and visitors being present.

At 11 o'clock the regular services were held. After prayer by Rev. John B. Green of Tulare, and music, led by Msss Elwood, piano, Walter Williams, piano, and Frank Cuthbert, tuba, the sermon was given by Rev. P. F. Bresee of Pasadena. He took for his subject "The Gift of the Holy Ghost." His sermon was an eloquent one, and he said:

his sermon was an eloquent one, and he said:

"There is great barrenness of spiritual power and life in the church. What are some of the difficulties which keep us from possessing the gift of the Holy Ghost? One of the hindrances is too close an alliance with the world. Another obstacle is the absence of the Holy Spirit and improved a professor.

Ghost? One of the hindrances is too close an alliance with the world. Another obstacle is the absence of the Holy Spirit, and ignorance of professors of the office of the Holy Spirit. Another hindrance is the lack on the part of preachers holding up Jesus before their people, and urging them to receive the gift of the Holy Ghost. The fault is in part with the churchmembers. They do not want that kind of preaching.

"Another obstacle is fear. You are afraid that you will be peculiar. Another is the multiplication of outside things, which makes men weary. You must not give the fag end of yourselves to God if you expect to have spiritual power. There are a great many obstacles in the way. All that we have to do with them is to get over them to the cross of Christ. May God help us to see the obstacles that are in the way. Jesus said unto the disciples: 'Behold, I send the promise of my. Father upon you; but tarry ye in the city of Jerusalem until ye be indued with power from on high.' They were there waiting, praying and looking for the fulfilling of this promise, which came upon them in flames of tongues of fire."

For the want of space we are unable to give a full report of this sermon, which was delivered with great power to a large and attentive audience. For the want of space we are unable to give a full report of this sermon, which was delivered with great power to a large and attentive audience. The evening service began with praise service led by Mr. Arne, Rev. Dr. Sinex, pastor of Pacific Grove M. E. Church, preached an eloquent sermon from Luke xv, 7. He said:

"Jesus preached to publicans and sinners. It was said of Him what cannot be said of many great preachers today. The common people card Him gladly. This was very found to the fact of the said of Him what cannot be said of many great preachers today. The common people card Him gladly. This was very found in the prodigal son. The first tells of the shepherd who had 100 sheep:

There were ninety and nine that safely lay in the shelter of the fold, But ere were ninety and nine that safely

In the shelter of the fold,
But one was out on the hills away,
Far off from the gates of gold."

Here followed graphic pictures of the quest of the shepherd, the search of the poor woman after her lost coin, the return of the prodigal to the loving father. A succession of scenes followed, illustrating the joy of the angels over the repentant sinner.

"The recovery of a sick child," continue the speaker "is the accession of the product of the product of the speaker "is the accession of the speaker."

tinue the speaker, "is the occasion of more joy to a fond mother's heart than the healthfulness of all the family besides; the coming into port of a ship which was supposed to be lost is the occasion of more joy than the arrival of whole fleets of vessels, concerning which there has been no apprehension which there has been no apprehension of danger; the recovery of a lost child in the trackless forest is the occasion of far more joy than the safety of those children who had never wandered from home."

Other striking illustrations of this thought were given. "So among the angels," he said, "there is more joy over a sinner saved, 'plucked as a brand from burning,' than over many righteous. The salvation of one sinner is of such vast importance that it causes the angelic hosts to rejoice and the great heart of Christ to swell with a fuller joy. So Christian endeavor to save sinners, to "Rescue the perishing,"

'Rescue the perishing, Care for the dying, Snatch them in pity from sin and the grave. Snatch them in pity from sin and the grave.'
This multiplies the joy of the angelic host, it quickens the enthusiasm of the church, it brightens the effulgent crown of Him whose business on earth was 'to seek and to save that which was lost.' Every sinner who repents and turns to God, rings anew the joyful bells of heaven."

With a very earnest appeal to any wanderer present to come home to the Father, the speaker closed his eloquent address.

our ministers, our statesmen and our presidents than all other educational forces put together. Not that the mother is always sufficiently learned in book lore to be a teacher for her boys and girls in the advanced courses of education, but her great power lies in giving a proper bent to their minds, in moulding and eveloping their moral and spiritual natures, in educating their conscience and giving them a large insight into their duty and obligations to others.

I think there can be no question as to the truth of the assertion that there was never a great man or a grand woman who had not a noble mother.

It is in the young years of life, when the mind is like a white tablet, which takes and holds every impression that is made upon it, that the making or marring of one's later life is accomplished. The first ten years are the impressionable years of character-making. Let the child be carefully trained and wisely edecated until that period, and if later he is left alone and ovil influences are thrown about him, I should still have hopes for him. The moral bent, even at that age, is pretty strong, and there is nothing in God's universe more powerful than a Christian mother's teaching and example. Your boy, if you are taken from him while he is young, may yield for a time to temptation and the influence of evil associates, but the sacred memory of home and mother will tend to draw him back and to lift him up and away from his temptors. "Train up a child in the way he should go, and when he is old he shall not depart from it.

There is a movement on foot here in Los Angeles, which I think an excellent one, to organize "A Working Woman's Association." The plan has not yet taken shape, but at its head are some noble and progressive women, whose hands are outreached to help those who need help, and, whose lines have not fallen altogether in pleasant places. As more definite plans are formed I will write more of it, but this much I know, it means help to the burden-bearers, to the homeless; it means opportunities have been limited, but who are desirous of improvement. It is just what is needed here and in every large city, and what There is a movement on foot here in

I welcome everything that helps to elevate woman. I am not "progressive" enough to believe that the ballot in her hands is of itself sufficient for her advancement, or even that woman suffrage would tend in that direction. It is not at the polls, in the midst of the political arena, that woman can best make her influence felt, but it is in the midst of her everyday home life and associations, where she may send abroad an atmosphere of purity and refinement that shall be as all-pervading as the sunlight. I do not desire the ballot for myself or my daughters, but if I had sons I would try and train them to yote rightly, and to protect the them to vote rightly, and to protect the interests of all womankind. Woman's life should be such that she can compel respect, and with respect will come protection. She is the sentinel upon the watchtowers of home, and the lust of power should never lead her to forsake her post of duty. NOTES.

Sullivan's Campaign Against the Indians-Mary Magdalen's Body -The Pied Piper-Hotspur's Encounter with the Royal Forces at Shrewsbury.

Sullivan's campaign against the Indians in 1779 opened with a reverse. His force of three brigades was as embled at Wyoming. Gen. James Clinton, who had guarded the Mo-hawk, crossed to Lake Otsego, dammed up the lake, and thus raised the water. Afterward, breaking down the dam, he produced a rise of water, by which his boats were carried down the north branch of the Susquehanna to Sullivan. But before he could effect a junction, Brant surprised Minisink, N. J., and a force of 1500 regulars and militia, who pursued the Indians, fell into an ambuscade on the 22d of July and all but 30 were killed. MARY MAGDALEN.

MARY MAGDALEN.

July 22d, in the ecclesiastical calendar, stands consecrated to Mary Magdalen, whose story, as related in the New Testament, made her a popular saint in the middle ages, and a favorite subject of the Italian painters and sculptors. The remains of a dead body found by the monks of Vezelai, under their high altar, were accepted as those of Mary Magdalen. The news quickly spread through France; the monks, delighted with the opportunity of enriching their monastery through the multitude of people which the celebrity of the saint would draw, determined to encase these relics with a pomp which would dazzle the simple. Louis IX., King of France, interested himself in the matter and Vezelai became a magnificent shrine. But this monastery had hardly possessed itself of the relics, when the claim was disputed by Provence; it was insisted that St. Maximin, Bishop of Aix, had buried Mary Magdalen at La Baume in an alabaster tomb, and Charles, Prince of Sciemo, eldest son of the King of Sicily, commenced a search for the body and had the happiness to find it. The legend relates that a delicious odor spread through the chapel, and that from the tongue there spread a branch of fennel, which, divided into several bits, became as many relics. Near the body were two writings; one on a board covered with wax, containing these words: "The 700th year of the nativity of our Lord on the 16th day of December; the body of St. Mary Magdalen was transferred secretly in the night from her alabaster sepulchre, into this one of marble for fear of the infidels."

A man in fantastic apparel, hence called the "Pied Piper," entered the town, which, for a certain sum of money, he offered to rid of rats, with which the place was infested. The burghers eagerly accepted the offer, and the Pied Piper, with a shrill pipe, went through all the streets, and forthwith the rats came all running out of the houses in great numbers after him; all of which he led into the river of Wesser and drowned them. When he came to get his reward according to the bargan he was answered that what he had promised was so unlikely that the bargain had not been made in good earnest, and they offered him a much smaller reward. This was refused with a threat of revenge, at which the townsmen bade him do his worst; whereupon, he betaking himself again to his pipe and going through the streets as before, was followed by many boys out of one of the gates of the city to a little hill, in the side of which there opened a wide hole. Into this the piper entered and all the children after him, and the hill closed up again and became as before. A lame boy who lagged behind the rest returned and told what he had seen, and the parents with great lamentation sought after their children both by land and water, but could learn nothing of them. "And this great wonder," says Verstegan, "happened in the year of our Lord, 1776."

A DASHING SOLDIER.

Shakespeare's tragedy of Henry IV. has made posterity familiar with the names of Percy Hotspur, Prince Hal, Falstaff, Glendower and the times of the first of the Lancastrian kings. Taking offense at Henry's refusal to permit the ransom of his uncle, whom Glendower had captured, Hotspur raised an army which encountered the royal forces at Shrewsbury July 22, 1408. The opposing troops, numbered about 14,000 each. Hotspur and Douglas led the charge and had they been well supported nothing could have resisted the shock. As it was, many knights were slain; Hotspur and Douglas sought out the King everywhere, but in vain, he having put on plain clothes and forcing Hotspur to say:

complete. False works will be erected, allowing the use of the bridge while the work is going on.

The Fort Wayne, Cincinnati and Louisville Raitroad Company has purchased several new engines, and has this week received two of the number and a large lot of rails, which are to be used in inproving the Whitewater Valley division. It is the intention of the new management to put this division of the road in such condition that it will be safe to run trains over it at a speed of 40 miles an hour.

The last special commission sitting at St. Petersburgh and dealing with the Siberian railroad question has finished its work. The project elaborated for the purpose by the late Gen. Pauker has been adouted in its entirety. The road will pass by Omsk, Tomsk, Irkutsk, Tchita and Stretensk, and will have Vladivostok as its terminus. The cost of construction is estimated at about 25,000 rubles a verst, or, roughly, f.80,000 a kilometer. It is hoped that the road will be finished in between five and six years.

ment of the Central Traffic Association on Wednesday, it was decided that, whereas the sale of so-called harvest excursion tickets at one fare for the round trip has the effect of demoralizing one-way passenger fares, the lines of this association will not themselves sell such tickets or permit their sonnections to sell tickets over their lines, nor allow the advertising material of for-tign lines quoting rates for such tickets to be placed in or about their offices.

A BOLD ROBBERY.

Dr. Parker Locks the Thief Up. Dr. Parker, the dentist, who has rooms in the Ramona, at the corner of Third and Spring streets, is the victim of one of the boldest robberie that ever occurred in the city. Saturday night, about 9 o'clock, a telephone message was received at the police station from the Doctor saying that he had been robbed, but had the thief locked up in a room, and asked that an officer be sent down at once to take him in charge. Detective Wallin, who was on duty in the office, started on a dead run for the place, and when he arrived at the Doctor's office, found that gentleman quietly looking over his instruments, as if he was taking an inventory of them. Wallin asked where the thief was, when the Doctor replied that he had got away, leaving no trace behind him. He said that when he came into his office, about 9 o'clock, he found a man waiting for him, who spoke to him, saying that he could not keep the engagement that he had made with him for that morning, as he was sick. He said that he did not remember making anyengagement with any one, but supposing that he had overlooked the matter, turned around to light the gas, telling the man to keep his seat. As soon as he got a light he turned around to see his visitor, but found that he had skipped, and, on making an investigation, discovered that he was out $35 worth of gold leaf, which he used for filling teeth. He had then telephoned the police station. The Doctor is confident that he can identify the man, if he should see him again. was on duty in the office, started on a

Last night, about 9:30 o'clock, a man in a buggy came driving around the Temple block at a rapid pace, when his horse shied, turning the vehicle upon the side and throwing the occupant out on the pavement. The man held to the reins, however, and, after being dragged a short distance, succeeded in stopping the horse, when he got into the buggy and drove off, apparently uninjured. His name could not be learned.

Yesterday afternoon a woman who said that her name was Mrs. Ella Patterson, and that she lived near the corner of Main and Manhattan streets, came to the police station and said that she wanted an officer to go and arrest a neighbor who had struck her child in the mouth with a hatchet, knocking out three of its teeth. Humane Officer Wright went with the lady to look the matter up, and found that the facts were anything but such as had been stated, the whole affair growing out of a children's quarrel, in which Mrs. Patterson's children were the aggressors. No arrests were made. Police Officer Walsh, who has been confined to his house for the past 10 days by a painful accident, was able to get about Saturday with the aid of a stick. While watching a house in the suburbs, where it was reported that burglars were likely to operate, the officer fell over a barbed wire lying on the ground, receiving several severe cuts on the calf of the leg. He attempted to continue on duty, but finally had to go to bed. It will be some days before he will be able to resume work. sume work.

We have introduced the compound exygen treatment with our systems of practice in the curp of Asthma. Bronchitis, Consumption, Dyspepsia, Insomnia, Sore Throat, Catarrh, Rheumstism and Nervous Prostration, while only the most improved methods are employed in all female complaints.

As is well known, Oxygen is the life-giving principle in the air we breathe, and Ozone in the air imparts that happy and buoyant feeling after thunder storms. Persons often require more oxygen than is in the air around them, and cause doors and windows to be opened, to a roll collars, loosen the waist, same them, and cause doors and windows to be opened, to a roll collars, loosen the waist, and received the contains and the contains and the contains are contained to the collars, loosen the waist, same or oxygen, and mountains are ascended to breathe the Ozone, which is light and ascends from the earth.

Oxygen and Ozone are gases, and must be stored up and used by inhaling them. Our apparatus for storing and having these graces compounded with other suitable agents is porfect, and though they are not a cure-all, yet they are undoubtedly the greatest invention made in the last twenty years in any department of medicine, and the results are truly wonderful.

Oxygen acts by purifying the blood. Thereby increases the capability of the lungs, and acts as a gentle stimulant to the nervous system.
